Razzle Dazzle 'Em

While at the Association of Rural and Small Libraries Conference in Raleigh, North Carolina, I attended a session about material displays. The presenter, Jeremy Bolom, is amazing! He had so many ideas, I could not get them all written down. First, Jeremy talked about the different reasons to have displays in the library: as a marketing tool; for Readers' Advisory; to revitalize a collection; and, to highlight new materials.

After scribbling notes madly through the whole session, I knew that I had too much information to send out all at once. I decided to start a regular "Display Ideas" service. At the beginning of every month, I will distribute a list of possible displays for the following month. For example, on the first of November, I will post to the RVLS website and send out an email with a list of suggestions for displays in December. That way, you will have time to gather the materials you need.

Here are some general display ideas that are not affiliated with any particular month.

Color Theme—Choose books that have a color in the title of the book (i.e. Blue Like Jazz, Man in the Blue Moon) or books that have the same color on the cover or a combination of the two.

Word Theme—Choose books that have the same word in the title (i.e. Heart for February; Flower for May; Feast for November).

Geographical Theme—Choose books by authors in the Midwest. Put a map of the central United States in the display and place pins where the authors live.

Git-R-Done Theme—Choose Do-It-Yourself books and display with a toilet and plunger.

When looking for calendar-related ideas for your displays, <http://holidayinsights.com/> is a helpful website. Click on "Bizarre and Unique Days" on the left-hand side of the page.

This is just one of the informative sessions I attended in Raleigh. As you read through the rest of this newsletter, look for (ARSL Session) to find more ideas from this Conference.

School Librarians Top 10 Tasks

How principals see them

1. Help students to access information and books.
2. Help faculty to access information and books.
3. Share technology expertise with students and teachers.
4. Select "appropriate" materials.
5. Model love for reading.
6. Collaborate with teachers.
7. Provide equipment (preferably "fast" equipment) and technology.
8. Provide leadership with technology.
9. Teach research skills, teach about books, and teach about databases.
10. Provide an inviting environment.

How librarians see them

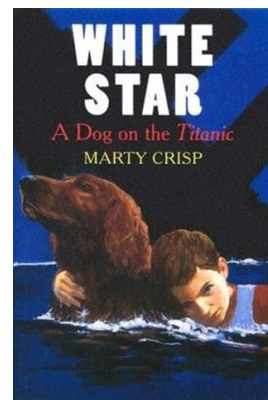

1. Help students select books.
2. Collaborate with teachers.
3. Read and book talk with classes.
4. Teach research and use of technology to students and teachers.
5. Keep library organized which includes cataloging, placing, and weeding books, doing inventory, sending late notices, updating the website, vacuuming the floor, and dusting shelves.
6. Study standards to prepare library lessons.
7. Troubleshoot technology issues around the building.
8. Help with extracurricular activities such as: laminating for teachers, running the morning show, building scenery for school plays, lunch duty, before and after school duty, preparing for parties and after-party clean-up, babysitting naughty students, coaching UNL teams, and counseling teachers and students regarding their personal problems.
9. Prepare book orders, equipment orders, and supply order. (Reading reviews of books and reading books themselves is done at home after hours.)
10. Organizing special library events like book fairs, author visits, book clubs and reading contests.

New Book Club Kit

RVLS has 9 copies of the book, White Star: A Dog on the Titanic, by Marty Crisp.

Grades 4-6. The year is 1912, and twelve-year-old Sam Harris is traveling from England to America on the grand ship the Titanic. Sam is lonely at first, but is soon delighted to discover that there are dogs aboard! When Sam volunteers to help out in the kennel, he meets Star, a spunky Irish setter that belongs to the ship's captain. Sam and Star become fast friends, and when disaster strikes, the boy and dog must rely on each other more than ever before. The harrowing, breathless conclusion -- and fascinating historical information -- makes this boy-and-dog tale truly unforgettable.

This kit was donated to RVLS by the Hildreth Public Library.

Hastings College Perkins Library is pleased to announce a “new acquisition.”

New faculty member Billie Cotterman is responsible for technical services and instruction in the use of computer software programs such as Microsoft Office and will also share in responsibilities for bibliographic instruction, web page development, reference services, and collection development. Billie just received her Master of Arts in Library and Information Science at the University of Iowa; she also has a M.A. degree in Classics from the University of Iowa and a M.A. in Latin from the University of Florida. When not in the library, she enjoys crocheting, cardio and weightlifting, and traveling. Her favorite shows are Mystery Science Theater 3000, Phineas and Ferb, Poirot, and Inspector Morse. She has many favorite books, but some of them are Murder on the Orient Express by Agatha Christie, Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy by Douglas Adams, Small Gods by Terry Pratchett, and Seven Pillars of Wisdom by T.E. Lawrence.

Happy Thanksgiving to you

New Professional Title

True Stories of Censorship Battles in America's Libraries, edited by Valerie Nye and Kathy Barco

Intellectual freedom is a core value of librarianship, but fighting to keep controversial materials on the shelves can sometimes feel like a lonely battle. And not all censorship controversies involve the public objecting to a book in the collection—libraries are venues for displays and meetings, and sometimes library staff themselves are tempted to preemptively censor a work. Those facing censorship challenges can find support and inspiration in this book, which compiles dozens of stories from library front lines. Edifying and enlightening, this collection

- Tells the stories of librarians who withstood difficult circumstances to champion intellectual freedom
- Touches on prickly issues such as age-appropriateness, some librarians' temptation to preemptively censor, sensitive cultural expressions, and criminality in the library.
- Presents case studies of defenses that were unsuccessful, so librarians facing similar challenges can learn from these defeats.

There are fewer situations more stressful in a librarian's professional life than being personally confronted with a demand to remove a book from the shelves or not knowing how to respond to other kinds of censorship challenges. Reading this book will help fortify and inform those in the fray.

Congratulations!

Two librarians from the Republican Valley Library System were recognized at the NLA/NSLA/MPLA Tri-Conference held in La Vista on October 18-19, 2012.

Pam Bohmfalk, Assistant Director for Hastings Public Library, was named the winner of the Excalibur Award for Outstanding Public Librarian for 2012.

Pam has been with the Hastings Public Library for many years, and is an integral part of both the technology and public services departments there. She sets up a variety of free computer classes for the public, writes the curriculum, and often teaches them herself. Around the holidays, Pam provides special assistance to people with electronics received as gifts. Pam was instrumental in establishing the very successful Teen Advisory Board for Hastings Public Library. She continues to provide guidance for that group by regularly attending, and sometimes even running, the meetings. Pam is also in charge of the monthly Book Club at the library. She selects titles, provides copies for all members, and leads the discussion about each book. In addition to her responsibilities at the library, Pam has been very active in the Nebraska Library Association. She is a past president of NLA and has worked to revise and update the NLA bylaws. More recently, Pam has been the NLA liaison to the State Advisory Council for Libraries.

Terri Johnson, Technology Assistant for North Platte Public Library, is the Paraprofessional of the Year for 2012. This award is given by the Nebraska Library Association's Paraprofessional Section. Terri has been at the North Platte Public Library since 1999, starting as a Library Clerk I and now working as the Technology Assistant. Terri currently teaches 4-5 computer classes a month in the library's Technology Learning Center and she has volunteered to keep the library's blog up to date. She has also taken on several leadership roles within clubs and associations outside of the library. Terri is also the Secretary/Treasurer for the Paraprofessional Section of NLA.

Free Credit Reports for Your Patrons

The Fair Credit Reporting Act requires each of the nationwide credit reporting companies to provide individuals with a free copy of their credit report, at their request, once every 12 months. However, there are a lot of "imposter" websites on the Internet that advertise free credit reports, but do not deliver on that promise.

RVLS has free brochures available for your library that will educate your patrons about this topic. The brochures are published by the federal government and they will answer many questions. If you would like a supply of these brochures, contact the RVLS Office by telephone or email.

Blind Date with a Book

Do you have some good titles that have not been checked out recently? One way to highlight these books is to offer your patrons a “Blind Date with a Book.”

Here is how it works:

1. Choose books that you think will appeal to a wide audience.
2. Tuck a book review form in each book.
3. Gift wrap the books.
4. Cut the wrapping paper so that the barcode shows through.
5. Display the books attractively.
6. Post the book reviews on your website (or in the library).

Disc Cleaning and Repair

A New Fiscal Year and A New Offer!

- From now thru June 30, 2013, each RVLS member library has 10 free disc cleanings.
- If you have more than 10 discs that need fixing, you may send them to us and we will repair them and send them back with an invoice for 50 cents per disc.
- If you come to the RVLS Office in Hastings and pick up the repaired discs, the charge is 35 cents per disc. A similar service at a retail video outlet costs more than $5.00 per disc!

The RTI ECO Auto-Smart is amazing! It will repair almost all scratches, no matter how deep. However, if the disc is cracked, we cannot fix it.

TRI-CONFERENCE OCTOBER 17-19, 2012

Keri Anderson from Hoesch Memorial Public Library in Alma was the winner of the $150 stipend sponsored by Biblionix. Keri used the stipend to pay for her membership in the Nebraska Library Association and to help offset her expenses while at the Tri-Conference in La Vista.

Keri attended the two full-days of the conference and especially enjoyed hearing the keynote address by Dr. Tom Osborne. She also visited the exhibits and found the opportunity to network with other librarians particularly helpful. Here is a portion of Keri's letter to Biblionix about the Conference.

"I also attended the session where Julia Cook, a national-award winning Nebraska children's author, spoke about her books that are written to show children how to solve problems such as bullying, listening to and following directions, anger control, and others. She is one of my favorite children's authors.

Other sessions I enjoyed and learned from included Budget Building, Dig into Books (Summer Reading theme), and Innovations on a Shoestring (free & cheap tools for technology and library service). One session that provided a lot for me was Core Tech Skills for Library Staff. I will be using some of the tutorials suggested, and will suggest some to my staff."

NOTE: If you were not able to attend the MPLA/NLA/NSLA Conference in La Vista, or if you were there and just could not make it to all of the session that were of interest to you, please take a look at the handouts that presenters has posted. The web address is <http://www.mpla.us/documents/handouts/2012/>.

Polar Express Night

Is your community having an old-fashioned Christmas celebration? A Polar Express Night fits in perfectly with that type of event.

- Get a copy of Polar Express by Chris Van Allsburg.
- Invite the children of the community to come to the library in their pajamas.
- Line up a local celebrity (i.e. mayor, county sheriff, school principal) to read the story.
- Arrange a visit from Santa.
- Provide snacks including hot chocolate and Christmas cookies.
- Give each child a goodie bag to take home. (Be sure to include a sleigh bell.)

The World is Your Oyster—Take Gritty Teens and Turn Them into Pearls

To keep teens coming back, show them that you care!

Feed them.

Remember their names.

Remember what they listen to or read.

Encourage their talents.

Let them see you order a book for them. Make sure they know they're first on the list.

A unique program is a Bookstore Buy-a-thon. Determine your budget for this event. Meet your teens at a local bookstore. Tell each one how much money he or she has to spend. Allow the teens to select books they want to read. Take the books back to the Library and put in book plates that say "This book was picked out by....."

Hint: Prepare a list of teen books that are already in the library to limit duplicates. Funding for this event could come from the Friends of the Library. If you transport teens, be sure to have signed parental permission forms.
